ACECH Selects Manageability LLC for Executive Director Services; Tiffany Tabbal Named Executive Director

Honolulu, Hawaii (June 15, 2026) – The American Council of Engineering Companies of Hawaii (ACECH) has selected Manageability LLC to provide Executive Director services to the organization, naming Tiffany Tabbal, Principal and co-owner of Manageability, as ACECH's new Executive Director. Through a professional services agreement, Tabbal will serve as ACECH's Executive Director and primary point of contact, leading the organization's operations, member engagement efforts, industry advocacy initiatives, and strategic programs. She succeeds longtime Executive Director Ginny Wright, who is retiring after 27 years of dedicated service to ACECH and Hawaii's engineering community.

Manageability LLC is a Hawaii-based marketing and management consulting firm specializing in serving organizations focused on the built environment. In addition to Tabbal's leadership, ACECH will benefit from the support of Manageability's experienced team, providing expertise in communications, administration, event coordination, membership engagement, and organizational operations.

The team-based approach provides ACECH with expanded operational capacity and continuity while supporting the organization's mission of advocating for Hawaii's engineering industry, strengthening member engagement, and advancing the profession statewide.

"I'm honored to serve as ACECH's Executive Director and to continue building upon the strong foundation that has been established over the years," said Tabbal. "The engineering community plays a critical role in shaping Hawaii's future, and I look forward to working with our members, partners, and industry leaders. Together with the Manageability team, we are committed to helping ACECH strengthen member engagement, expand opportunities, and advance the profession throughout Hawaii."

ACECH Board President Charles Jury, P.E. said the organization is excited to begin working with Tabbal and the Manageability team.

"Tiffany's experience in association management, combined with the resources and support available through Manageability, will provide ACECH with the leadership, continuity, and operational capacity needed to continue serving our members and advancing the engineering profession in Hawaii," said Jury.

Honoring Ginny Wright's Legacy

As ACECH begins this new chapter, the organization also celebrates the extraordinary legacy of Ginny Wright, whose 27 years of service helped shape ACECH and strengthen Hawaii's engineering community.

For nearly three decades, Wright served as the backbone of ACECH's operations, providing leadership, continuity, and unwavering support to board members, committees, member firms, and industry initiatives. Her dedication helped guide the organization through significant growth and change while fostering the strong relationships that continue to define ACECH today.

"Ginny's dedication to ACECH over the past 27 years has been nothing short of extraordinary," said Jury. "Her contributions have strengthened our organization and our industry in immeasurable ways. On behalf of the Board of Directors and our entire membership, we extend our sincere gratitude for her years of service and wish her every happiness in retirement."

ACECH extends its deepest appreciation to Wright for her many years of dedicated service and leadership. Her legacy will continue to be felt throughout the organization and Hawaii's engineering community for years to come.
